

Pharaoh's Gold Stolen in Cairo

CAIRO (UPI)—Ten 4,000-year-old coins, worth $85,000 simply as old gold and almost any amount to a collector, have been stolen from a museum here.

Police checking on an anonymous telephoned tip found that the coins, minted when Amen Amhat I was pharaoh of Egypt, had been taken from a showcase. Eight crude copper replicas lay in their place.

Vancouver Revels

Cup Carnival Everywhere

JOAN VAN BOVEN
... Miss Grey Cup

VANCOUVER — Football became virtually the whole of Vancouver's existence today as the West Coast metropolis went wild over the national final between the Hamilton Tiger-Cats and the Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

The Grey Cup carnival was everywhere. It burst into life and blanketed the whole of the downtown district as the city bulged and revelled under the impact of the greatest invasion in its history.

Whooping Calgarians rode herd last night on the pre-game Grey Cup celebrations and completely stole the show from the staunch but suddenly bewildered supporters of the Blue Bombers.

In gaudy attire of the prairie city, the cowboys and cowgirls of Calgary did an artistic job after delaying their own arrival by pulling emergency cords on their special train.

REWARD OFFERED

Calgary alderman Ernie Starr said he and other Calgarians on the delayed train had collected and were offering a $400 reward for information leading to the identification of the miscreant who pulled the emergency cord.

Joan Van Boven, 17-year-old Montreal High School student, was crowned Miss Grey Cup 1958.

HIGH SPOT

The crowning was the high spot of a Miss Grey Cup ball.

It was a Calgary show in the spacious lobby of the Hotel Vancouver, where east and west are arguing endlessly about the merits of the Bombers and the powerful Ti-Cat entry.

DRAW CROWD

The Calgarians drew crowds by the score—something that hasn't been done yet in the pre-game warmup. They sang "Home on the Range" and went on from there. They didn't care a hoot that somewhere on the trail they had left three cars of their special.

Late Friday night, the Calgarians were still running the merry show and eastern comment went like this:

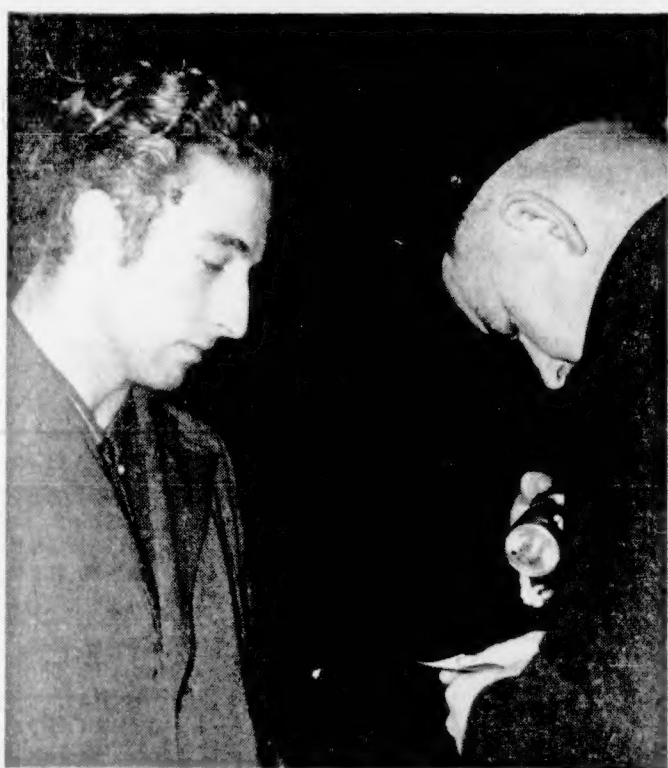

"If the Stamps had only been here against the Tiger-Cats, wow!"

There was more life in the hotel lobbies and on the streets.

Grey Cup fever spread to the confines of the federal penitentiary in New Westminster.

The inmates will be allowed to gather in the central dome of the main cell block and watch the game on television.

QUEEN TO 'MEET PEOPLE' IN RURAL CANADA JOURNEY

Visit Next Summer Will Include North

OTTAWA (CP)—The Queen and Prince Philip are going to "meet the people" in their six-week visit to Canada next summer.

Tour planners are framing travel arrangements with a view to making sure the royal couple see as many ordinary persons as possible.

The emphasis, too, will be on Canada's smaller communities rather than on the big cities.

RURAL AREAS FIRST

"It won't be a question of bypassing the big places," a tour official said. "It's just that the accent will be on seeing as much as possible of the rural areas."

It was confirmed Friday that the couple will take in all Canadian provinces, including some undefined "northern areas," during the visit.

VISIT NEWFOUNDLAND

This was made known after Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland announced in St. John's that Elizabeth and Philip would visit that province.

Pending release next week of a broad tour program, officials gave this generalized picture.

The Queen and the prince will start their visit by flying from Britain in mid-June. They will go first to Newfoundland, proceeding from there to the Maritimes and Quebec province.

SEAWAY OPENING

In the last week of June they will board the royal yacht Britannia, passing through Montreal to the international section of the St. Lawrence River for official Canada-United States ceremonies opening the seaway. There will be 17 Canadian naval officers and ratings aboard the royal yacht.

There is every expectation that President Eisenhower will be on hand for the joint ceremonies, likely to be held in the area of Cornwall Island.

MONTREAL CEREMONY

Earlier, there will be "some sort" of ceremony in Montreal, officials said, probably in the area of the Jacques Cartier Bridge in the east end of the city.

After the joint ceremony, the royal couple will travel through the Great Lakes, stopping at various ports. They will then visit the western provinces and some parts of northern Canada. Every effort is being made in planning to ensure flexibility, with some engagements being listed as tentative.

COAST-TO-COAST

The visit will mark the Queen's first coast-to-coast tour of Canada since she came here in October, 1951, as Princess Elizabeth. She said then she conceived a "love for Canada that will never grow cold." She made her first visit as Queen in October, 1957, but did not go beyond the Ottawa area.

Russians Topped?

Atlas Hurled 6,300 Miles

From UPI, AP Reports

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla.—The air force hurled its Atlas missile out over the Atlantic last night in the United States' first full-range flight of an intercontinental ballistic missile.

The Atlas apparently travelled 6,325 miles and fell within 30 miles of the chosen target area. The rocket was guided all the way by its own instruments and did everything it was supposed to do.

A statement issued by Convair Astronautics, builder of the big ballistic missile, said: "There are no fundamental question marks left in the Atlas program. Tonight's flight demonstrated the range capabilities of the Atlas."

Convair employees gathered at a local hotel, scene of many post-launching celebrations, and their jubilation added weight to the company's report.

Convair president J. V. Naish said the Atlas program was going into the last phase, which he described as "the implementation of the Atlas as a potent deterrent force of the strategic air command."

Reports on the firing gave support to those who contend that the United States does not trail the Russians in intercontinental ballistic missile development. Soviet scientists are reported to have fired ICBMs 4,600 miles.

Huge Transfusion Asked for Homes

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet will be asked shortly to pump another $350,000,000 of government money into the Canadian housing stream in an effort to maintain the peak rate of house-building in 1959, informants disclosed Friday.

If the cabinet approves—and this is likely—the request for additional funds will go before the next session of parliament opening in January. It would boost to $1,100,000,000 the total federal funds allocated for increased house-building in the last two years.

The last $350,000,000 allocation was made in May and authorities estimated that at the current rate of demand, the money should be used up by next March or April.

Devaluation Ruled Out By Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has no intention of interfering with the freedom of the Canadian dollar, a finance department spokesman said Friday.

Rumors that the dollar might be devalued were unofficially reported to be circulating in some overseas centres, including The Netherlands.

War Loan to U.K. Repaid Next Week

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's $700,000,000 war-time loan to Britain will be fully repaid next week when Sir Saville Garner, Britain's high commissioner in Canada, presents a cheque for $7,500,000—the final instalment on the 1942 loan.

Ex-Crew Member Forgot to Leave Ship

Visit to ex-crew mates aboard the luxury liner Oronsay in Vancouver yesterday ended at the immigration headquarters last night for Richard Bethell, 19, of Burnaby. Taken from the south seas-bound liner by a pilotage launch when the ship passed Victoria, he was later cleared by immigration officers R. S. Reid and C. W. Hagglund.—(Colonist photo.)

Was Coffin Innocent? Indian Claims Murders

MIAMI (AP)—Police have checked the story of a Mohawk Indian who said he and a companion killed two persons in Quebec's rugged Gaspé bush country—a crime for which Wilbur Coffin was hanged two years ago.

Francis Gilbert Thompson, 35, said he is a full-blooded Canadian Mohawk Indian and hates white men.

Police said a companion, Johnny Green, implicated by Thompson in the double slaying, escaped when Thompson was picked up on Wednesday for prowling. Greene is still being sought.

THREE MEN SLAIN

Coffin, a 43-year-old prospector, was convicted specifically of killing Richard Lindsey, 17, of Hollidaysburg, Pa., in June, 1953.

Slain at the same time were Lindsey's father, Eugene Lindsey, 45, and a friend Frederick Cigar, 20.

Thompson said he and Green killed the Lindseys in the fall of 1953. Thompson made no mention of the third man slain.

Police quoted Thompson as saying he killed the father with a rifle and Greene shot the son. He said he and Greene cut up the bodies with the victims' hunting knives and then split $600 which they took from the victims.

Thompson said he and Greene left the area in a jeep which they later dumped into the St. Lawrence River.

Coffin was hanged in 1956 protesting his innocence in the slaying of the hunters for whom he was a guide.

Montreal authorities said there have been a number of "crackpot confessions" in the Gaspé murders.

MONTREAL POLICE

Miami detectives asked Thompson questions prepared by Montreal police.

Detective Warren Holmes, Miami police polygraph expert who listened in on the questioning, said:

"He doesn't seem like a crackpot. He wasn't crossed up on any of the questions."

No Evidence In 'Murder'

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—A Kamloops man told police he murdered two men in the Dawson Creek area nearly three months ago because "I wanted to be hanged."

RCMP reported Friday that Lenard J. Lacasse, 38, was undergoing psychiatric treatment in New Westminster.

Police engaged heavy tractors to move earth in the East Pine area but there wasn't a shred of evidence to substantiate his story.

500 Fund Mounts

Extra Cheer Badly Needed

A Victoria woman has three children—one, six and four years old. Her husband is in hospital with a long-term illness and the family has a small three-room suite in an old home at a rent of $45 a month, plus light, water and heating fuel.

Their income from social assistance is $122.50 and family allowance comes to $18.

The mother tried to find work, but could not make satisfactory arrangements to care for her children. The social welfare department encouraged her to stay home to look after her youngsters, who at their age need the loving care of a mother.

This is an actual case from the files of the social welfare department in Victoria and this family is one of the 500 most needy families to be helped by the Colonist 500 Christmas Fund this year. The other 499 families are in similar plights.

There is little doubt that Christmas will be bleak this year for this family, but the 500 Christmas Fund will at least provide that little extra money to buy a few extras to bring joy to the hearts of the three youngsters, whom Santa might pass by.

With 500 names of families who Santa will not visit this year the Colonist asks those who have a little extra to dig deep in their pockets to provide a little extra cheer for the lower island's 500 most needy family groups.

That is the function of the

To Help Santa Out

500 Christmas Fund which yesterday reached $1,227.12.

Donations are deductible for income tax purposes and should be mailed to the 500 Christmas Fund, The Daily Colonist, 2531 Douglas, or be taken to the Colonist office at the same address, or to the downtown business office at 1215 Broad Street.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

A NUMBER of people were kind enough to write and offer comments on the series of articles about the Indians which has been hogging so much space in this newspaper for the best part of the last two months.

I intended to write thanking those people before, but all my papers have been in a jumble since then. At the end of my trip to the series. My bedroom, which has been my office, has been literally piled to the ceiling with notes—the notes being arrayed in bunches on a large crude bookcase which is tacked to the wall, right up to ceiling level.

Three-quarters of my time, it seems now, has been spent looking for notes, books and pamphlets which I had lost.

Not all the papers were confined to the bookcase. Some of them were piled on a number of tables, some in the drawers of my old-fashioned roll-top desk.

I like the roll-top desk, but it has a fault: its writing surface is small. When a typewriter is placed in the middle of the desk, the remaining area seems to get clogged with notes in just a few minutes.

The series was to have been much shorter, and it was to have been completed before the first article appeared in print.

However, when the time came for the series to begin running, I had finished only about one-third of the articles. So I had to fill in the gaps as I went along.

And the series grew. Each time I brought in an article that was too long to fit the allotted space, the news editor allowed me to split it into two articles.

Then I found that the second article had to be rewritten, and new facts added. Presently that article was also too long, and had to be split in two.

And so it went, the articles increasing by division, in the same way that certain germs reproduce their kind.

I used my holidays this year to work on the articles, hoping that I would be able to complete them within that time. I failed to do so. But I accumulated a few extra "All Aboard" columns, which I felt would allow me to take a trip later.

But the time that I had set for leaving on that journey ran out, and I still had not finished. Finally I decided it was time to go anyway.

I had made and cancelled three reservations on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. They are a patient crowd in the PGE, but three times was enough.

Three of the last five articles were written in extreme haste, two of them while my wife was packing for the trip, one in a cabin on the midnight boat (most of it, anyway) and one in a hotel room in Prince George.

It has been a fair length of time since I began work on the Indian series; ten months. I have seen some interesting places and met some people worth knowing, both Indian and white.

After such a time dwelling on one subject, the mind gets even more gummed-up and sluggish than it usually is.

However, doing the articles was my own idea. Nobody ordered me to do it, so I'm not complaining.

The people who annoyed me most during this long-drawn-out job were the whites who spoke glibly of moving the Indians off the reserve and giving them houses elsewhere, as though Indians were cattle to be driven from one pasture to another.

The Indians have a right to their land. The fact that in some areas they are not putting their reserves to use is nothing to do with the case. If whites don't cultivate their land, if they choose to keep a great deal of it in bush, nobody talks of moving them somewhere else to make room for a park development or beach access. What on earth gives people the idea that Indians can or should be moved?

Reds Score U.K. On Cyprus Plan

UNITED NATIONS (CP).—The Soviet Union on Friday bitterly criticized British policy on Cyprus and asserted that the Macmillan plan was a "manoeuvre to gain time and create obstacles to a solution."

Soviet delegate Arkady Sholev accused the British authorities of stirring trouble between Greek and Turkish Cypriots "to create a pretext for the terrorist regime on the island."

Prime Minister Macmillan has proposed a seven-year period during which Greek Cypriots and Turks would take part in an island government. The 81-member committee, in the third day of its Cyprus debate, received a Colombian draft resolution to send a

Radio Beam Turns Lights Red in Emergencies

Victoria will be first city in Canada where traffic signals are controlled by approaching emergency vehicles, if successful tests yesterday are followed by installation of new system. At Bay and Fernwood, Fire Chief James Bayliss inspects his car's transmitting unit, which turns lights red by radio beam from a distance of 2 1/2 blocks. White light suspended by traffic signal comes on to indicate signals are red in all directions. (Colonist photo by William A. Boucher.)

French Voters May Erase Once-Mighty Communists

PARIS (UPI). Political reports from the provinces indicate that France's once-powertful Communist party may be virtually wiped out as a political force in Sunday's runoff general elections.

Reports showed the Communist candidates probably would be smothered by a rightist trend which promised to make the newly formed Gaullist Union of the New Republic (UNR) the largest political group in the National Assembly.

Communists are likely to win only 20 to 30 of the 465 parliamentary seats representing metropolitan France. The party held 150 seats in the last assembly, making it the largest group, enabling it to block many government proposals on key domestic and international issues.

The election predictions were based on information sent to Premier Charles de Gaulle's government by the governors of France's 80 provinces.

Sunday's balloting will be the second round of voting in France proper for the fifth

When 3,000 provincial servants participated in a "red alert" civil defence exercise yesterday Carol Darley of the motor vehicles branch was "rescued" from the second storey of the public works department offices in the Douglas Building. 3,000 Scramble In 'Red Alert'

Members of the telephone exchange at the legislative buildings have had a pool going all week on the time of the civil defence exercise, but when it was called at 3.30 p.m. yesterday there was no winner.

Three thousand civil servants scrambled for shelters when the red alert sounded yesterday afternoon and within 15 minutes they were all safely tucked away in basements and the tunnel between the main legislative buildings and the Douglas Building.

Only civil servants not to duck for cover were the telephone operators, who remained at their post as they would do in a genuine alert, and air raid wardens.

Chief Warden C. S. Oldfield described the exercise as a "success."

"Generally speaking there were a few bugs that can be ironed out. There was a little congestion here and there," he said. Communications, which were a focal point of the exercise, were excellent, he added. It was the first civil defence exercise at the buildings in two years.

On hand as observers were Victoria civil defence officials Commodore Val Godfrey and Frank Barrows.

Highlight of the exercise was a rescue from the second floor of the public works offices in the Douglas Building. Carol Darley of the motor vehicles branch was "rescued" by a 10-man civil defence rescue team.

Ald. D. J. Proudfoot called on city council yesterday to place on record its "gentlemen's agreement" with the taxpayers that the increase in revenue from parking meters, not properly taxes, would pay for the View Street parking development.

He did so just before council gave preliminary approval to a $1,000,000 bylaw for the development, to be placed before the owner-electors in the Dec. 1 elections.

Ald. Proudfoot asked at first that the "gentlemen's agreement" be written into the bylaw, but city controller Denis Young said that unless it were very carefully worded, it may find it impedes going ahead with the whole bylaw. He withdrew the request when city manager C. C. Wyatt said the bylaw could be modified later, when time was so important, which would give ample opportunity for the proper wording to be studied.

Power Probe Will Open In Victoria

H. Lee Briggs, former general manager of the B.C. Power Commission, will testify before the Shrum royal commission into BCPC finances in Victoria on Dec. 18, chairman Dr. Gordon Shrum told the Daily Colonist last night.

He said the commission hearings will be held in Victoria, starting Dec. 17 with testimony from Dr. J. V. Fisher, financial and economic adviser to the provincial government.

Mr. Briggs will testify following Dr. Fisher, probably on Dec. 18.

Dr. Shrum said the royal commission is expected to open in Vancouver at the Arlington Hall on Broadway on Dec. 11 and 12 with the commissioners of the BCPC as the first witnesses.

Shipyard Vote Over

Result of a vote on whether some 2,600 shipyard workers in Victoria and Vancouver will accept a six per cent graduated wage offer is likely to be known tonight.

A spokesman for the shipyard workers said yesterday the union will complete its vote this morning, but he did not expect to be given the result until Monday morning.

The graduated pay increase over two years, as recommended by provincial conciliator Reginald Clements, was rejected by the unions until certain fringe benefits were offered and the vote was called.

Safety City

WITH the annual pre-Christmas Safe-Driving Week due to begin at midnight tomorrow it is worth while to take a look at what can be accomplished when motorists get behind concentrated efforts of that sort. The outstanding example in Canada, probably in North America and maybe even in the Western world is provided by Medicine Hat, a city with a population of something over 20,000.

What has Medicine Hat that Victoria and other cities of Canada have not? Just this: A record of four years without a single fatal traffic accident. Against this Greater Victoria, with a good deal larger population it is true, has a black record of traffic deaths this year which works out on average at one every four weeks. Medicine Hat, having just marked the 1,461st day without traffic deaths, has now raised its sights and is aiming at 2,000.

This bustling, fast-growing Alberta city is so jealous of its splendid record that motorists there go more in fear of spoiling it than of what the courts might do to them if they did. The first driver to blemish the record runs the risk of being ridden out of town on a rail. We could do with some of that spirit here, with our ugly record of traffic fatalities at the rate of one every month of this year—and the most dangerous period still to come.

Medicine Hat's safety drive is not, as in most cities, of a week's duration once a year but a continuing campaign which never lets up for a minute. It had its beginning four years ago in the editorial columns of the Medicine Hat News whose repetitious slogan of so many "deathless days" quickly caught on and in time aroused ambition to have Medicine Hat known as The Safety City.

The University Question

DURING his hectic engagement with Victoria College students Premier Bennett was asked if he favored degree-granting status for the college. The premier answered yes. He could scarcely do otherwise. No politician under the same circumstance would answer no. It will not do to pin him down too precisely on the subject, therefore. The tempo and atmosphere of this public meeting was part of both question and answer.

Some people have deplored the rowdiness of the students on this occasion. They might have been more respectful, and a speaker should never be howled down as Mr. Bonner was. He should get a hearing. Heckling was once a great part of the political scene, however, and only college students seemingly remember this. Time was when politicians expected to be chivied, since this is one way in which their intentions may be probed and facts brought to light. Many of the students are voters, also, with a right to ask questions, even if their exuberance may have got a bit out of hand.

Some of the seeming disrespect may have derived from the premier himself, who is prone to explosive utterance and therefore is apt to invite the kind of atmosphere which awaited him at the Victoria College meeting. Yet Mr. Bennett is well able to cope with a rowdy audience, and probably in fact enjoys the rough and tumble of heckling. He can hold his own in most verbal encounters and seldom wins less than a draw. Even at the meeting in question he drew a hand for his ability to face the music.

If the premier seemed under certain duress, therefore, when he answered yes to the university question, he was already on record as promising to match dollar for dollar any fund-raising that would promote the college to such status. One wishes in fact the college council seemed as favorable to the idea as the premier, for then the elevation might come about more quickly.

Sale of Oil Rights

THE successful sale of oil and gas exploration rights on some 2,000,000 acres in the northwest and northeast of the Peace River district by the Province this week should be welcome for the $3,629,218 it will add to the provincial treasury and as another indication of the interest being taken by the industry in undeveloped territory beyond current explorations. Shell Oil, a major bidder at the sale, secured rights in a relatively new section of the field near the Yukon boundary.

While development is contingent on discovery, it is obvious that the Peace River district is attracting considerable attention on the basis of what already has been found.

A good feature of the provincial sale is reservation in the name of the Crown of intervening territory, so that in the event of discovery and future development the Province will retain a definite interest in both of the areas affected. Mr. Kiernan, as minister of mines, commenting on the outcome of the sale, expressed satisfaction with the nature and the extent of the bidding. Several major oil firms bid for and obtained initial exploration rights in the unexplored region.

Road in Nelson-Creston

PREMIER BENNETT yesterday telephoned from Vancouver an angry denunciation of an editorial which had appeared in The Colonist that morning. The subject of the editorial was a contract for new roadwork in the Salmo-Creston area and the coincidence of a provincial byelection in Rossland-Trail. The core of Premier Bennett's complaint, in which he accused this paper of "dirty politics," was that the Salmo-Creston area is not in the Rossland-Trail constituency.

The editorial did not say that it was, although the heading read "Roadwork in Rossland-Trail." We are willing to correct any inference which may be drawn therefrom that the road to be built lies inside the Rossland-Trail electoral riding. But the premier would be putting much too fine a point on it if he attempted to suggest that this new road will not be of vital interest and benefit to the electors who will be going to the polls on Dec. 15.

Interpreting the News

UN Discusses Cypriot Issue

By DAVID ROWNTREE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

BRITAIN'S "Algeria in miniature" is under discussion in the United Nations again. Although the Greek-Cypriot underground called a general strike and shooting continues on Cyprus, the fact that there is some serious discussion going on has brought a lessening of tension.

Given intransigent British, Greek and Turkish arguments about finding a solution, there might seem little that the UN could do. But the situation has deteriorated so far that this may be among the last hopes for finding peace in the colony.

It has become a cliché to say that Cyprus is strategically important to Britain. She needs a base, this view runs, so that she can quickly deploy forces in the Middle East. This thesis has often been questioned and the British government sometimes sounds as though it would be delighted to clear out of Cyprus to free some of its troops and save money.

To withdraw at this time, however, would probably invite a civil and perhaps international war. Britain will have to stay until there is some semblance of peace. Unfortunately, the longer she stays, the farther away peace seems to be.

Commentators in England believe the government passed up one of its best chances of finding agreement early in October.

Greece then offered to abandon its demand for enosis—union of Cyprus with Greece—in favor of independence for the island. The British did not see this as being a significant change.

At the United Nations, Greece is pleading for support of an independent Cyprus. The British delegate said such a solution would be disastrous at present, but he agreed it could be included in discussions.

The Turks are suspicious that independence under Greek sponsorship would not be lasting and that Turkish holdings inevitably would be annexed by a historic foe. But at the moment there doesn't seem any other way out.

Canada's Airlines

Competition Benefits All

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

AS one who has never yet been up in the air, except metaphorically, I have no personal interest in the promotion of air transportation. But as a newspaperman I have received an interesting amount on that subject. It is a copy of the submission by G. W. G. McConachie, president of Canadian Pacific Airlines, to the Air Transport Board at Ottawa in support of an application by the CPA for a network of coast-to-coast routes in Canada.

It is an historic fact that the coast-to-coast development of the Dominion of Canada began with the building of the transcontinental railway. That tremendous undertaking was initiated and carried out as a private enterprise by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. With the dawn of aviation this same company foresaw the future of air transportation in Canada and was the first to pioneer a nationwide air service.

In 1940 the company acquired a number of private local air services, which had run into financial difficulties. These were consolidated and brought up to date in equipment. While this program was in progress the federal government announced that railways should divest themselves of ownership of airlines. Later the CPR was permitted to carry on pending an extensive survey by the Air Transport Board, with the result that Canadian Pacific Airlines was authorized to engage in air transportation business in certain areas in Canada.

The CPA found itself with extensive services scattered from Labrador to the Pacific Ocean and Alaska. The company tried to develop its five separate areas into autonomous units, but it finally withdrew from some of these local operations and they were taken over by the government-owned Trans-Canada Air Lines. Thus economic factors, combined with restrictive government policy, forced CPA out of the domestic market and into pioneering such international routes as the TCA did not wish to operate. Despite these government restrictions, CPA has established regular air services to the Orient, Australia, South America and Europe. But the company complains that the "overriding rights of the TCA have presented a formidable obstacle to the full development of Canadian air services at home and abroad."

"To properly appraise the situation in Canada," says Mr. McConachie, "one must realize that TCA's monopoly within Canada is the largest non-competitive pool of aviation business in the free world." Competition, he says, would have developed the air transport market more quickly and would have provided better service to the public. He declares that CPA is the only Canadian company that can provide that competition on an economic basis. He points out that CPA has routes in South America, South Pacific, Mexico and Hawaii that are busier in the winter than the summer, and would therefore have equipment available to take care of summer peak loads in Canada.

In conclusion Mr. McConachie says: "The CPA is not requesting any subsidy from any government agency whatsoever in connection with its proposals. Canadian Pacific is prepared to take whatever risks are involved, based on its business judgment, thereby providing Canada with competitive transcontinental air service."

Reports from Ottawa

WHEN the Queen and Prince Philip come to Canada next year they should be permitted to go where they want to go, see what they want to see.

They should be permitted to meet and mingle with the "common people" instead of being monopolized by politicians.

They should be permitted time to rest, instead of being worn out rushing from one official function to the next, constantly on exhibition.

They should be treated with consideration which stops short of boring them with adulation and exhausting them with kindness.

Sound familiar? It should, because that's what we—especially our politicians and our newspaper editors—say before every royal visit. Then we blithely break all our good resolutions. We crown royal schedules with official functions and public appearances. We bully our visitors—in a kindly way, of course—into going where and doing what we want them to do. Or rather, what our vote-conscious politicians want them to do.

And occasionally we make complete asses of ourselves—like the Toronto city father who said the Queen City, also known as Hogtown, should tell the Queen not to show her face there until August because in August she would do more for Toronto's tourist trade!

All this could happen this time—but it needn't. And it won't, if Prime Minister Diefenbaker backs to the limit his new royal visit commissioner, M. Gen. H. D. Graham.

Over the years successive governments have tried different methods of handling royal visits.

In Mackenzie King's day the protocol division of the Department of External Affairs had the responsibility of seeing things up—with Mr. King fussing around the periphery in his characteristic old womanish way, fretting about such details as dinner menus and seating arrangements.

During the St. Laurent regime there was a double change. First, responsibility was shifted to the Department of the Secretary of State. That didn't last long, for the then foreign minister, Lester B. Pearson, objected to another department spending money provided in the budget for External Affairs.

Then responsibility was shifted to an inter-departmental committee dominated by External Affairs and set up afresh for each visit.

The advent of the Diefenbaker regime brought yet another change. The idea of an inter-departmental committee was expanded into an organization called the Government Hospitality Committee, with permanent secretariat and offices. This committee, expandable as need arises, handles preparations for all VIP visits, whether the VIP be the Queen or the dowager great aunt of the chief of the Ashantis.

All these planning groups had a common weakness: no one except the prime minister had sufficient authority and prestige to say nay to powerful politicians. If the PM was too busy, as often he was, nay didn't get said. And visiting royalty was presented with work schedules that would send shop stewards screaming for strike votes.

Gen. Graham, the recently retired chief of the general staff, is to be Diefenbaker's no-man.

The bark of a hard-bitten soldier should abash reeves, mayors, even back bench MPs. But what when cabinet ministers apply pressure to have the Queen dedicate a school or visit a hospital in their ridings? That's when the no-man must have full support from the boss man, or the whole keep-it-simple effort will end up like those of other visits.

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

A PSYCHOLOGIST tells me that the explanation of the immense and slightly absurd popularity of Westerners on the TV and in the movies is the natural hunger of city-bound, town-bound, mechanized humanity for the wide-open spaces as expressed by ranches, deserts, horses, cattle and primitive men motivated by primitive impulses.

An American executive of the Walt Disney organization was in town this week, and he told me that the series of wild-life pictures by Disney, such as Beaver Valley, The Living Desert, and the latest one on the Arctic, has resulted in tens of thousands of people of all ages, all over the continent, enrolling in the various field naturalist clubs, sportsmen's associations and the many other organizations offering personal contact with the out-of-doors on a basis of understanding and study.

Finally, a medical doctor says that within the past five years he has advised close to a hundred of his patients to give up golf, bowling, and all the spectator sports they have been following, and take up instead any one of the numerous interests of the field naturalists, whether trees, rocks, botany, birds, animals, anything that will invite them out of doors, free of tension, competition and the brittleness of our increasingly engineered world.

"It is too soon," he says, "for us to become robots. That will come. But in the meantime, most of us have to get our feet on the sod, now and then, to recharge our systems with whatever the earth gave our forebears across the countless generations."

Union Dues Perverted

By DAVID LAWRENCE

AT least $3,000,000 and perhaps many millions more were spent by labor unions in the recent Congressional campaign, in which they generally supported the Democratic Party candidates.

are filed, these may show that as much as $10,000,000—more than was collected by the regular organizations of both political parties together—was expended throughout the nation by the labor unions, though it may be difficult to get a complete accounting. It has been admitted already in the official records at Sacramento that nearly $1,900,000 was spent by the labor unions in California alone.

The federal statutes and many state laws forbid contributions to political campaigns by either corporations or labor unions, but the department of justice here for some unexplained reason has not pressed before grand juries the prosecution of those who are engaged today in what by some current definitions might be called a "massive resistance" to the "law of the land."

A Georgia court has just declared compulsory union membership to be unconstitutional when it includes the use of dues money for political purposes. Judge O. L. Long in the superior court at Macon, Georgia, demolished the argument that the contributions of labor-union members are always "voluntary."

Several union members had complained to the court that their dues were being extorted from them in order to propagate political views to which they objected and to support political candidates to whom they were opposed.

The union members had complained that if they resigned from the union they would lose their jobs under the compulsory membership contract in effect between the railways and the unions.

Judge Long's opinion from the bench says:

"... I am compelled to the conclusion that the periodic dues and assessments required of all members of the 15 unions—defendant unions—in order to acquire and retain membership have been, are being and will be used in substantial part for the support of political candidates locally, state-wide and for federal offices."

"I find that the dues and assessments are being used and will be used in part to support, propagate and foster ideological and political doctrines to which these plaintiffs do not subscribe."

"I find that part of this money, a substantial part, is used and will be used for publication of newspapers, magazines, letters, bulletins, periodicals, a substantial part of such publications not being germane to collective bargaining and not incidental thereto, but the publication of matter advocating political ideas, advancing national economic concepts which are not the plaintiffs', or of the class that they represent..."

"The Hanson case (decided by the supreme court of the United States) simply holds that membership may be required only for the purpose of forcing the employees to pay the expense of collective bargaining and where the evidence shows, as it does in this case, that the money is used for purposes not germane to collective bargaining but in substantial part for other purposes, the contract is not enforceable and to enforce it under these conditions, in view of the facts in this case, would be a violation of the plaintiffs' constitutional rights."

"The stipulation of facts and the evidence in this case show that the union contracts, under the Railway Labor Act, are simply devices by which the property of the plaintiffs, and the class they represent, is extorted or extracted from them and is being perverted for purposes other than collective bargaining, and the Railway Labor Act to this extent is therefore unconstitutional."

When E. Smythe Gambrell, prominent attorney of Atlanta, counsel for the plaintiffs, summed up the case he showed that a total of $178,000 had been diverted by the railway unions from the dues and assessments to a fund spent by an auxiliary organization engaging in political activities. He also pointed out that a portion of the dues of the plaintiffs was turned in to the AFL-CIO. He noted that the comptroller of the AFL-CIO had testified that a substantial portion of the expenses of "COPE," a political education committee of the AFL-CIO, were paid "directly out of the general funds of the AFL-CIO" derived originally from dues.

If corporations were found to be using stockholders' money for any similar purpose or using their corporate power to coerce individuals to contribute to political campaigns, there certainly would be a howl, but, when national labor unions do it, one wonders how they get away with it.

Disgusting Display

My husband and I listened to the rebroadcast of Premier W. A. C. Bennett's address to the students at Victoria College. Our only comment is "God Help British Columbia if it ever gets into the hands of that crowd."

Also, where were the faculty to permit such a display of disgusting behavior on the campus?

Missing a Good Thing

It seems a great pity that so few people seem to know a good thing when it is offered them. "The Paragon" at the Arts Theatre in Langham Place is a really clever, amusing and exciting play, and is admirably acted by a cast which holds the audience firmly from beginning to end and yet the theatre was poorly attended, hardly more than a third full, the night we were present.

Public Power

I quite agree that private investment should have every opportunity to invest its funds in the national development, in private business. But in the case of the development of hydro electric power, this being a national asset, it should be developed by the people for the people.

I well remember the beginning of the Ontario hydro and the howl of private capital at its inception. But look at the result: private capital in Ontario has a thousand more opportunities for investment today than it had before. The hydro may have taken one field away from private investment but has created a thousand others.

In a few years, the Ontario hydro will complete its development and the profits will then be used for the reduction of taxes as well as creating more jobs and industries by cheap power.

British Columbia is now at the beginning of its electrical power development and it must decide now who is to develop this very valuable asset, the people through government, or private capital.

I have lived 58 years in Canada; I have travelled across it in that time four times. I have seen our lovely forests ravished. The soil of our vast prairie mined and blown away (our national asset). I am thinking of my grandchildren; what will British Columbia be for them another 58 years from now?

J. E. GRIFFITHS.

Cheaper in Vancouver

I was in Vancouver twice during the last six months in July and September. On a bus there one can travel as far as from here to Sidney on one fare. That fare was then 13 cents, with slack tickets four for 45c—only three cents more than Victoria. Now the fare there is 15c, only two cents more than here.

If there are any zones there, I did not find them and the crowds were about the same as here. It would take all the buses in Victoria to cover two of the routes in Vancouver. Why should Victoria be given such treatment?

Soldier Sent to Jail For Break-In, Theft

Sterling Gustafson, 22, PCLCI, was sentenced in city police court yesterday to three months' definite and six months' indefinite in the young offenders' unit at Oakalla.

He pleaded guilty to breaking and entering Ed and Austy's service station, 856 Broughton, and stealing a battery, tire, two hubcaps and some anti-freeze.

Thomas Edward Swift, 20, HMCS Margaree, was fined $15 in city police court for being a minor in possession of liquor. He had a case of unopened beer.

Bomb Case Defence Concluded

VERNON (CP)—The defence had concluded its case Friday afternoon in the bomb conspiracy trial of Sam and Alex Konkin.

In his defence, Alex Konkin said he had been in the Willow Inn Hotel at Kelowna June 28 to buy a glass of beer and also a case of beer. But he said he did not go into the men's lavatory.

An explosion early the morning of June 29 caused heavy damage to the men's lavatory at that beer parlor.

Konkin also disclaimed any knowledge of a piece of whitish tissue paper found in the garage of the home he was staying in with his brother Sam.

A crime detection laboratory witness for the crown had testified that the tissue paper found in the Konkin garage and a piece removed from the time bomb found in the Allison Hotel here June 28 were once the same piece.

Three other young men originally were on trial with the Konkin brothers but they were acquitted Wednesday by the jury of 11 men and one woman after Mr. Justice Arthur Lord concluded there was no evidence presented by the crown to convict.

Blizzard Chokes East

(From CP, AP and UPI)

Heavy snowfall whipped into deep drifts by gusty winds blanketed the eastern half of the continent yesterday, turning transport into a shambles in Ontario and Quebec and cutting a wide swath across the U.S. from the Rockies to Pennsylvania.

At least 17 persons were dead due to the storm, which wasn't expected to let up until some time today as its centre moves into New England and the Maritimes.

At least five persons died in southern Ontario highway accidents. The storm, whipped to unexpected violence by winds of 120 miles an hour, dumped as much as six inches of drifting snow over a wide region of the province.

Toronto's Deputy Police Chief Robert Kerr described traffic as "chaotic." It was Hamilton's earliest winter storm in eight years. The blizzard also dragged traffic to snail's pace in Windsor and Montreal.

Public transportation systems in all major cities were reported running hours behind.

City officials said that city and suburban services had been virtually stopped, mainly by streets jammed with stalled cars.

Storm centre started its big northeast trek from New Orleans, its northern flank dumping snow across the Midwest and snarling extra-heavy U.S. Thanksgiving holiday traffic in a wide network of arterial highways, and threatening to rocket the 102-hour holiday fatality list.

Early last night 192 U.S. traffic fatalities had been tallied for the holiday, at least 12 blamed on icy or snow-packed roads.

Snow ranged up to 13 inches in Devils Lake, N.D., nine inches in Missouri and Illinois and seven in parts of Indiana and Ohio.

Evansville, Ind., street cleaners chose to go on strike just as the heaviest snow in 11 years arrived.

Jackknifed trailer trucks caused a monumental, seven-hour traffic jam in southern Illinois that tied up an 11-mile stretch of a superhighway.

Works department in Windsor was blamed for a huge traffic tangle because crews failed to get sanders and scrapers on streets until nearly five hours after the snow began.

Mayor Michael Patrik ordered a complete investigation.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

A certain clergyman of international renown opposes what he calls "problem preaching." Upon reading this I dug out a book of his to refresh my memory. It has one dominating theme of bewilderment: "Why doesn't the church in Scotland arouse the wartime enthusiasm and heroism of youth?"

Throughout the book searches in vain for specific deeds to be done, for heroic vision to be achieved. At best, it is a panicky order of a captain to his soldiers: "Shoot the crisis!"

Little wonder that 74 per cent of the British people, in a recent poll, said that church membership doesn't matter. If the church has nothing to say directly to human problems, then we cannot marvel if among social scientists only anthropologists attach importance to religion.

Such a church struggles down into a cushiony culture, instead of getting to the crossroads of humanity's highway. Christianity has become confused with the anaesthesia of a soothing sermon and soporific ritual.

Such an attitude resembles the elder brother who would not admit the prodigal to the father's house. For our culture is prodigal. It denies the incarnation, the divine-human, transcendent-immanent, God of the Bible. Turgeneff expressed the view of most of us, "I believe in civilization and I require no further creed." Throughout all society we see a monstrous secularization of life, a life organized apart from God.

Secularism is 'This-Age-ism'

Secularism means literally "this-age-ism," a life without eternal dimensions or divine meaning. One or other must be false: modern man who says that the good life consists in the abundance of things he possesses or Jesus Christ who says it doesn't.

Genuine religious vitality comes from dynamic grappling with specific issues in politics, society, education and home. At a conference in Cincinnati of union, management, education and church leaders, William Cowland of Luton urged that the church be no mere holy club with a "filing cabinet of membership rolls," but "the explosive movement it was meant to be... The Gospel of the church is not salvation by extraction from the world... Its job is to save man and society."

Should the church have nothing to say about white police beating Negro women in South Africa under the brutality of "apartheid"? Such pictures give the Communists more advertising than they could buy.

Church Must Baptize Culture

Surely the church must be concerned with the implications of the new anti-fertility drugs and give guidance on the responsibilities of parenthood.

The church must baptize culture as well as babies, movies, radio and television must have constant Christian pressure. The church should have brave opinions regarding labor unions, which they founded, and refuse the blasphemous demand to "keep religion out of politics" or the cynical "business is business" slogan.

Let us be scrupulously watchful of censorship and all forces that lead to the inhuman one-party dictatorship which destroys privacy and dignity.

Religion needs to come down to earth and human life needs to be lifted to God—that is the doctrine of the incarnation. Any man who reduces the Christian faith to vague sentimental creeds discloses that he does not even know what the Christian mission is, hence our confusion and inertia. "The soul of the world's salvation is the salvation of the soul," but the Gospel has no meaning apart from world transformation.

Adventists Start Carols Tonight

Fellowship Meeting Set

Representatives of all Victoria branches of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship will attend services at numerous Victoria churches Sunday and take part in a special meeting at 3 p.m. at 1000 Moss.

A score of Seventh-day Adventists will herald the coming of Christmas tonight when they launch the first of a series of visits to all areas of Greater Victoria presenting Christmas carols.

The carols will be played by mobile sound units, featuring the voices of "The Kings of Heralds," a radio quartette. The carol units will tour the area every night until Christmas Eve.

Centennial Review To Follow Service

Victoria centennial events will be reviewed in the form of color slides following the evening service at the Church of Our Lord on Sunday.

Ceremonies to be shown will include the unveiling of the De Cosmos monument at Ross Bay Cemetery, centennial tree planting ceremonies, founders' day events at the church, and the special service held for Victoria pioneers.

Evangelist to Stay

Southern Baptist evangelist Lennard Darbee will remain in Victoria for another week to continue his campaign at Evangelistic Temple, Queens and Blanshard.

BRIG. A. H. GAULT

PPCLI Founder Dies He Inspired Regiment

Described as "a great inspiration" to the regiment at Work Point Barracks here, Brig. Andrew Hamilton Gault, 76, founder of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, died yesterday in a Montreal hospital.

Lt.-Col. Thomas de Faye, commanding officer of the 1st

Brig. Gault was born in England. He came to Canada as a youth and attended Bishop's College School in Lennoxville, Que., and McGill University.

He served with the Canadian Mounted Rifles during the South African war, winning his commission at 18 and receiving the Queen's Medal and Point, said the news of Brig. Gault's death came as "a great shock."

Col. de Faye and a group of officers from the battalion left Victoria last night to attend funeral services in eastern Canada.

Brig. Gault, who had been ill for some time, died shortly after an operation.

His military career began in 1900 and was interrupted twice when he entered the family business, a wholesale drygoods distributing firm, and again when he represented the Somerset constituency of Taunton in the British House of Commons.

Ventriloquist At Banquet

Ventriloquist Paul R. Turnidge of Edmonton, Wash., and his partner "Joe" will highlight a program of entertainment at the annual father and son banquet sponsored by the Men's Fellowship of Glad Tidings, Dec. 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Turnidge recently returned from Brazil, Ecuador and Colombia.

Retired Accountant

Albert Alexander Funeral Monday

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. on Monday at Sands funeral home for Albert V. Alexander, 69, who died suddenly at his home at 605 Michigan Street yesterday.

Born in Croydon, England, Mr. Alexander came to Canada in 1910. He had been a resident of Victoria for 27 years.

Mr. Alexander recently retired as accountant from Peterson Electrical Construction Co. Limited.

He is survived by his widow, Matilda, at home; a son, Hector, in Victoria; a daughter, Mrs. Bruce McEwen, at Burns Lake, B.C., and two brothers in England.

Boxla on Ice For Kids of Sour Springs

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)—Oliver Smith of the Sour Springs peewee hockey team is one coach who goes by the rules.

For Oliver, this is easy. He makes them up as he goes along.

Smith's team made news last winter when it became the first all-Indian squad to compete in the national peewee hockey tournament at Goderich, Ont. The boys put on Indian regalia and did a war dance on skates before the game.

Now, Oliver is doing something new with the boys from the Six Nations Reserve—lacrosse on skates. The team has been experimenting during hockey practice this season.

Saturday, Sour Springs meets Peterborough in what was to have been an all-hockey game. But Smith suggested they play lacrosse for the first period and Peterborough agreed.

More Than 42,000 Fans To See Grey Cup Game

VANCOUVER (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Winnipeg Blue Bombers, representing more than five tons of the country's top football talent, clash today for the Grey Cup, a $50 piece of silverware that annually sends nine professional clubs from Montreal to Vancouver into a reckless spending spree.

Climax to a four-month season that early showed the Tiger-Cats and Bombers the cream of East and West, the game is expected to draw a crowd of nearly 42,000, the largest for a single attraction in the history of Canadian sport. Kickoff is 1:30 p.m. PST.

As far as the experts are concerned, and there are hundreds of them here, Bombers may as well have stayed at home. The rough, bruising Tiger-Cats, runaway winners of the Big Four Championship and defending cup titleholders, are favored at 7 to 5 odds and upwards, or even money and 7 1/2 to nine points.

Coach Jim Trimble of the Tiger-Cats goes along with the sideline experts. He said Friday his team would win and coach Bud Grant of the Bombers said his players were determined to make Trimble eat his words.

Tiger-Cats defeated the Bombers 32-7 at Toronto a year ago, giving the East a 24-7 spread in victories since the classic became national in 1921. But the Western Interprovincial Union champions had a flock of walking wounded before the game and a couple more casualties were added before the Ticats were through with them.

This year, things are different. Both clubs are in top physical condition and an upset would be the greatest since Edmonton's split Eskimos whacked the highly favored Montreal Alouettes 26-25 in a thrilling, come-from-behind final five years ago.

Everything is set for the game. The weatherman has promised to co-operate with a forecast of cloudy and mild and temperatures in the high 40s at game time and no hint of fog that, at times, bedevils this west coast port city.

Visiting Fans Raise Hoopla
Fans in their big white hats, high-heeled shoes and colorful ribbons and trappings, streamed into the city by special and regular trains Friday night, but the players were oblivious to all the downtown spontaneous hoopla.

Tiger-Cats can send fans yawning out of the park by their ball-possession, ground-eating type of play and they can also bring the crowd to its feet with a nifty aerial offensive. This was demonstrated during the 1958 season.

They wrapped up first place and a bye into the total-point big four final by going undefeated in their first nine games with a well-mixed ground and aerial attack. During this period the Ticats, with Bernie Faloney, the magic ball-handler from the University of Maryland, tossing strikes, became the pass-

Blue Bombers Outweighed
The Bombers, outweighed by an average of nearly eight pounds a man, operate out of the T-formation and its variations.

The ruled the Western Conference almost from the start of the schedule last August, earned a bye into the best-of-three final against Edmonton Eskimos by their first-place finish with only three losses in 16 starts. The final series went the three-game limit as they downed the Eskimos 30-7, lost 30-7 and sewed it up with a 22-7 deciding game triumph.

Up for Grabs Today
Here's object of all the fuss—the fabled Grey Cup, being admired by Arlene McLean, Vancouver. Hamilton won it last year to break a three-year hold by Edmonton Eskimos.—(CPC)

It's Snowing In Toronto

Grey Cup fans can be thankful this isn't Toronto's year for the football classic. Snow began falling early yesterday and it wasn't expected to stop until today.

Varsity Stadium, site of many past east-west games, was covered with almost half a foot of snow and about the time the players trot out on the field in Vancouver, the temperature in Toronto is expected to be about 32.

Snow is not expected in Vancouver, but fog, which has occasionally played havoc with football on the coast, is a possibility.

If fog does come, there will be no confusion among officials as to what action to take. Football commissioner Syd Halter has ruled that if fog blankets the field during the first half play will be suspended on authority of referee Harry Bowden. He can order a 30-minute delay.

If the fog lifts, play will continue from where it was halted. If there is no indication of it lifting after a 30-minute delay, the game will be suspended.

Five outstanding football personalities were honored last night at the annual Grey Cup dinner. They were Al Ritchie of Regina, Ken Montgomery of Edmonton, Floyd Muirhead of Toronto, Fred Porter of Montreal and T. H. C. Allison of Toronto.

All five received plaques at the $10-a-plate dinner, which was attended by 700 persons.

time tie last night before a Grey Cup crowd of nearly 4,000.

Totems will be trying to increase their five-point lead in the western division of the Western Hockey League, but Pat Egan's Cougars, tied with Spokane for third place, will be out to redeem themselves after taking an 11-3 lacing from New Westminster in their last game.

Egan, who won't decide on his starting lineup until just before tonight's game, said he will cut one and possibly two players following the game.

Cougars now have 17 players on the roster, not including Lyle Willey, who has not yet joined the team.

KUZMA STARS
At Vancouver last night, Alex Kuzma, who Totems traded to Vancouver for Jim Powers last week, scored one goal and drew an assist on the other for Canucks.

Rookie Walt Peacock scored the other Vancouver goal.

Calgary Stampers, still holding four games in hand, started a determined bid for first place in the eastern division of the Western Hockey League last night, rallying in the third period for a 3-1 victory over the league-leading Flyers at Edmonton.

Veteran Sid Finney scored once and set up Lou Jankowski for the clincher. Johnny McKenzie of the Stampers and Ray Kinasevich of Edmonton swapped goals in the second period.

In last night's other game, the touring Spokane Flyers suffered their first setback of their eastern road trip, going down 5-3 at the hands of Saskatoon Quakers.

Max Bentley, Jackie McLeod, Les Lilley, Ralph Keller and Reg Primeau scored for the Quakers. Lloyd Maxfield got two goals for Spokane and Al Johnson scored the other.

Flyers have played three games on the prairie and have three points.

Game Itself Could Be Good

TURKS ELIMINATED

ISTANBUL (AP)—Spain's Real Madrid soccer team tied Beşiktaş squad 1-1 on Thursday and eliminated the Turkish entry from the European Cup championships. Real Madrid won on a total goal basis for two games 3-1. The Spaniards captured the first game 2-0.

At this early hour on Grey Cup eve (8 p.m.) this may be more a hope than anything else but it is a fact that the pre-game celebrations are off to a slow start this year. It could be the result of the late arrival of trains bearing anxious celebrants from the east and that the next two hours will see enough catching up done to bring things back to normal, which on the night before the game is something just short of a riot.

FORCING ISSUE
On the other hand, there is a definite lack of spontaneity in what has taken place so far and while there are hundreds milling around on downtown streets determined to have a good time, they are for the most part forcing the issue.

People, all kinds of people doing all kinds of things, are everywhere. They're in cars driving around and around and creating all kinds of traffic problems and business for body shops, seeing little but indicating that they, too, are a part of this thing. They're jamming sidewalks and streets and bars and restaurants and hotel lobbies and beating a path to government stores.

SOME ARE FUNNY
Some are funny, like the fellow who walked poker-faced across an intersection obviously on a return trip and bearing high a dripping parcel which left no doubt about where it had been wrapped. But the many who are trying for laughs are just plain silly. Some are quietly curious but some are loudly exuberant.

Donn Bakay of Vancouver, 8-7, to win the Totem event after earlier besting John Chessor of Riondel, B.C., 10-3 in the final of the Evergreen event.

Stone's victory marked the first time a rink has taken both primary events and the grand aggregate in the four-year history of the bonspiel.

TAYLOR WINS
Gar Taylor of Victoria won the Pacific event in the bonspiel, defeating Fergie Ferguson of Vancouver, 12-11, in 13 ends in the final.

Another Island curler, Bill Osborne of Port Alberni, reached the finals of the Dogwood event and the eighth of the Totem before bowing out.

Stone, playing in the Totem for the first time, defeated

Equimall 3-0, while in the third league game, Milne's Landing High School bowed to North Saanich High, 31-28.

Three exhibition games were also played last night. The Vic High juniors defeated the St. Louis juniors 42-31, while at Oak Bay, Mt. Douglas High seniors beat the Oak Bay seniors 34-23 and Oak Bay juniors beat the Mt. Douglas junior squad 28-13.

The Vic High Totems trailed 6-5 at the end of the first quarter, but they came alive during the second half, particularly in the latter stages.

'Celebration' Falls Flat

By JIM TANG
Colonist Sports Editor
VANCOUVER — Is there a chance that some semblance of sanity will return to the annual Canadian madness called the Grey Cup final, that it can become again a major sports event and not an excuse for tossing away restraint for a major binge for which the game itself is the excuse?

At this early hour on Grey Cup eve (8 p.m.) this may be more a hope than anything else but it is a fact that the pre-game celebrations are off to a slow start this year. It could be the result of the late arrival of trains bearing anxious celebrants from the east and that the next two hours will see enough catching up done to bring things back to normal, which on the night before the game is something just short of a riot.

On the other hand, there is a definite lack of spontaneity in what has taken place so far and while there are hundreds milling around on downtown streets determined to have a good time, they are for the most part forcing the issue.

People, all kinds of people doing all kinds of things, are everywhere. They're in cars driving around and around and creating all kinds of traffic problems and business for body shops, seeing little but indicating that they, too, are a part of this thing. They're jamming sidewalks and streets and bars and restaurants and hotel lobbies and beating a path to government stores.

SOME ARE FUNNY
Some are funny, like the fellow who walked poker-faced across an intersection obviously on a return trip and bearing high a dripping parcel which left no doubt about where it had been wrapped. But the many who are trying for laughs are just plain silly. Some are quietly curious but some are loudly exuberant.

To those to whom the game is the thing, this Grey Cup final looms as one of the most interesting in years, not because of any assurance that it will be the most interesting game in years but because such a good case can be made for both clubs. The final score might be 30-0, but it could be either way.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE
Odds that have been published have Hamilton Tiger-Cats as 7-5 favorites and seven points the better club but this one looks like 6-5 and take your choice.

Hamilton coach Jim Trimble fearlessly forecasts that his club will win this thing handily but Winnipeg's Bud Grant is taking a different psychological approach. He agrees just as willingly that his club deserves to be the underdog and that the Blue Bombers will have to be lucky indeed

Bruce Mitchell, top first string player for the Esquimalt team, sustained a serious arm injury during last night's game which may possibly keep him out of the lineup for several weeks.

Tourney Site Biggest Issue

By JIM TAYLOR

Members of the Victoria Tenpin Bowling Association meet Wednesday night to lay plans for the upcoming tournament play on Greater Victoria lanes.

The association, about 100 members strong, will hold its annual general meeting in the ballroom of the Club Sirocco at 7:30 p.m., and all members are urged to attend.

There are two main items on the agenda. First is the election of officers. Second is the selection of a site for the city tournament, always a bone of contention.

Bowlers will vote to decide the venue of the tournament, held last year at Roy Beggs' Strathcona lanes.

The teenpinners continued to find the lanes hot at Gibson's Bowladrome this week, and six of them shattered the 600 mark for a three-game series.

Bill Templeton turned in a sparkling 634 (244, 214) series in the commercial league for high three honors. Watson Finley rolled 618 (205, 222) in the commercial league, and Bruce McDermid, 611 (209, 230); Jim Ferrie, 607 (222); and Lloyd Chow, 602 (235) were top men in a big night in the senior league. Len Parsons was runner-up to Templeton in commercial play with 612 (223, 203).

Bill Oakley placed second in senior league competition at 586 (201). He was followed by Alex McKeachie, 580 (211); Charlie Marks, 577 (200); Bill Holness, 576 (211); Jack Lim, 573 (224); Elmer Curtis, 568 (234); A. Hawkins, 566 (244); M. Mapes, 560; Ted Bowcott, 554; Ken Mann, 552 (200) and Nip Sage, 552.

D. Elford, 577; Howie Hazzard, 573; H. Smith, 549; Chuck Bennett, 561 (213); and Don Shaw, 548, followed the leaders in the commercial league. Mary Welsh led the women's league with 511 and Rich Lou, 505 (229) and Norm Gamble, 515, were runner-up in the mixed league.

Ron Wilson and Rocky Maysmith both cracked the 600 mark in teenpin action at Strathcona Bowling Alleys. Wilson had 618 (218, 212); while Maysmith bowled 602 (248). Both scores were posted in the senior league.

Lloyd Chow, 598 (251); Herb Chandler, 582 (225); Bob Bystedt, 570 (205); Harold Paulding, 565 (201, 202); and George Motion, 552 (203) were the other high scorers in senior league play.

In the commercial league, Paulding rolled 574 (210); followed by Charlie Marks, 552 (263); Ray Bogsday, 544 (206, 211); and John Elves, 542.

Stan Bell, rolling at Capital City Bowling Alleys, was high man in the Greater Victoria fivepin leagues with an 885 series. Next in line at those lanes were Emil Liska, 833; Bill Peterson, 828; Cec McRae, 845 and 792; Roy Jago, 810; Reg Waggoner, 792; Norm Wylie, 793; Des Nex, 787; George Brown, 787; Seto Sun Ho, 780, 771; Willie Petersen, 757; and Vic Harrison, 751.

At Esquimalt Bowladrome, manager Larry Marshall topped his own top 10 with an 866 (276, 299). Others to make the list were Gerry Ryan, 854 (362); Al Beaulieu, 797; Ben Price, 770; Bob McLeod, 755; Jim Gallant, 751; Vern Fellman, 751; Mabel Martin, 742; Joan White, 742; and Irene Hanson, 742.

Roy Jago came through with an 877 (348) series at Gibson's Bowladrome for the week's high score at those lanes.

Second place, for a 794, went to Bill Cool. He was followed by Don Corbett, 760; Lew White, 756; Stan Smith, 741; B. Long, 729; S. Cumberland, 725; D. Tuck, 723; R. Showers, 720; Bill McKinnon, 720; Harry Cool, 731; Jack Goldie, 722; Cy Wallis, 728; Ken Jones, 716 and Reg. Waggoner, 719.

Prairie Sportsman Likes Our Climate

By GARTH WILTON

Steve Hayhurst, a well-known member of Saskatchewan's golfing and curling fraternity, has forsaken the prairies for Victoria's milder and more temperate climate.

Hayhurst, who competed against many of Canada's top curlers while playing at Saskatchewan's Nutana Curling Club, has taken out membership in the Victoria Curling Club and expects to do the same at the Colwood Golf Club.

The amiable, 39-year-old golfer will join an old friend on the Colwood course in the person of Bill McColl, with whom he served in the army during the war.

FOUR HANDICAPPER

He shot to a handicap of four at the Saskatoon Golf and Country Club and was usually in the low 70s. However, he doesn't expect to shoot that low on the tougher Victoria courses where "you don't get nearly as much roll on your tee shots."

But Hayhurst's big moments in the world of sports have been reserved for the curling rinks.

Four times he played on rinks that reached the northern finals in provincial competition in MacDonald Brier play.

MET CAMPBELL'S

One year, in 1957, he won the northern championship and met Garnet Campbell's Avonlea rink in a three-game series for the right to represent the province in the Brier.

In that series, Hayhurst and his Saskatoon mates lost two straight because the southern champions "had Garnet Campbell and a little luck."

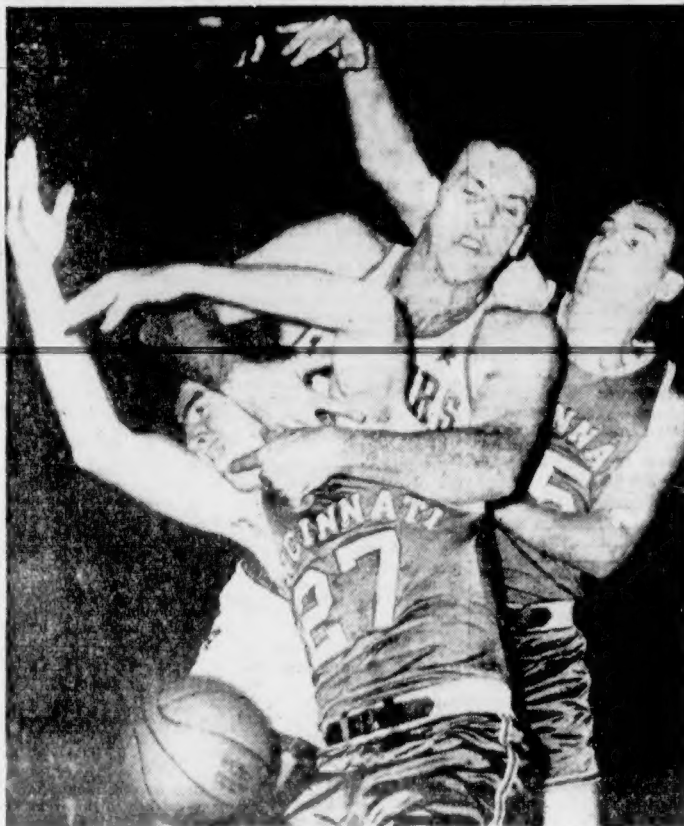

"We were up against the man I consider the greatest individual curler in Canada," Hayhurst said yesterday. "At least when he was curling all the time he was the best."

HEAVY ICE

"We played that provincial final on heavy ice in Regina and Garnet, who had been playing on all types of ice while we had good ice all season in Saskatoon, knew the ice almost immediately. I think he had the ice tabbed after watching the rock they threw for the official opening. He didn't even have to waste a rock to get his weight."

After being badly beaten in the opening game, Hayhurst's rink carried the Campbell's to the 13th end before Garnet Campbell called on his luck and won the game with a Thruke shot.

Segregation Law Kayoed; Sporting Events Benefit

NEW ORLEANS (AP)

A federal court ruling on Friday with far-reaching effects today knocked out a Louisiana law banning sports competition between white and Negro athletes.

The law, passed by the state legislature in 1956, prevented mixed boxing matches and teams with Negro players from meeting all-white squads in events such as the Sugar Bowl.

Although not concerned in the case, filed by Negro boxer Joe Dorsey of New Orleans, the Sugar Bowl could be the chief beneficiary of the ruling. The Sugar Bowl has been searching for an opponent for top-ranked Louisiana State in the New Year's Day football game. The sports segregation law narrowed the field to a handful of teams.

AIR ACADEMY PLUM

The Air Force Academy, ranked eighth in this week's Associated Press poll, was the choicest plum for the Sugar Bowl. But like the other service academies—Army and Navy—the Air Force frowned on the sports segregation law and all but eliminated itself from consideration.

Sugar Bowl president Claude Simons declined comment on the ruling pending a consultation with attorneys.

Louisiana Attorney-General Jack Gremillion, when informed of the ruling, said it was his mandatory duty to file an appeal.

"Give Garnet those three—Don Campbell, Gary Thode of Saskatoon and Jack Keyes of Milestone, Sask.—and he would beat Baldwin every time out."

Sound travels through water at a mile per second, compared with five seconds in air.

There are no Negroes on the Air Force Academy squad, but the practice of segregated seating—still unaffected by Friday's ruling—is the thorn. There was no comment from Air Force officials, who are known to want a bowl bid for the unbeaten but untested Falcons.

The Air Force is also high on the list of eligibles to play Texas Christian in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

Downpour Halts Aussie Cricket

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuters)—A 30-minute downpour washed out play after only three overs Friday on the opening day of a game between the English MCC touring cricket team and Queensland.

In those three overs—18 minutes of playing time—the MCC, who won the toss, scored eight runs without loss.

Reay Gets Axe

TORONTO—Billy Reay, who began his coaching career with Victoria Cougars five seasons ago, yesterday was fired as coach of Toronto Maple Leafs after the National Hockey League club managed to win only two points during a four-game trial period.

Left-winger Bert Olmstead, bought from Montreal Canadiens last summer, has been appointed playing-coach and George "Punch" Imlach, named general-manager only a week ago, will make the decisions behind the bench.

TEMPORARY

Imlach emphasized that this arrangement is only temporary. He added that players will be kept or moved out of the lineup depending on their performance in the next few games.

Reay spent two seasons with Victoria in the Western Hockey League, then switched to Seattle Americans for one season. In 1956-57, he piloted Rochester Americans to the American Hockey League final.

NOT BITTER

Reay claimed no bitterness toward the Leafs for his firing, but did claim that he was "underrated."

"I still think the smartest guy in Maple Leaf Gardens is Conn Smythe (president of the Gardens and former Leaf general-manager). He's the one guy I could see eye to eye with."

"I have been coaching since I was 24, all over the country, working my way up to this job—and then I get undermined."

The 40-year-old native of Winnipeg is the first head coach to be fired in mid-season since Smythe replaced Art Duncan with the late Dick Irvin early in the 1951-52 season. Speculation now is that Reay will be offered the coaching-manager's job back at Rochester.

Facts Laid on Line As Mayor Hits Back

Mayor Percy Scurrell last night laid the facts on the line regarding Victoria's financial position.

He made this statement in answer to Saanich opponents of amalgamation who have referred to Victoria in such terms as "decadent" and "bankrupt."

"During the current debate on amalgamation there have been some irresponsible statements made regarding the city's financial condition. Some references even went so far as to suggest Victoria is a bankrupt municipality."

"Because of these statements I feel that I am justified in giving our citizens a statement as to our financial situation and also some of the things that have been accomplished during the last few years without any increase in taxation."

"In the first place I wish to say that instead of this city being bankrupt that its financial situation is equal to, if not better, than any city of its size in the Dominion of Canada."

DISPEL DOUBTS
"To dispel any doubts regarding that statement I am going to review the years 1950 to 1958 which incidentally correspond pretty well with the time I entered actively into the city of Victoria's administration, which is the period with which I am most familiar."

"In 1950 the city had a net debt of $10,216,000 whereas at the end of 1958 it will be $4,290,095, or a reduction of $1,925,105. Per capita this was $199.02 in 1950 and at the end of 1958 is $148.05 or a per capita reduction of $50.97."

ENVIALE RECORD
"I suggest from a debt point of view this is a very enviable record because there are few, if any, other Canadian cities where debt reductions have taken place during that period, fact, with one or two exceptions among the major Canadian municipalities, they have been forced to increase their debt in many instances to very sizable proportions."

"The reduction in our debt during the past eight years has had a very definite effect on the borrowing powers of the city according to the information compiled by the Department of Municipal Affairs. The present net or borrowing power of the city of Victoria is slightly over $8,000,000, whereas in 1950 it was approximately $2,000,000."

BORROWING POWER UP
"It will be seen therefore that our net borrowing power has increased more than four times over that same period of time."

"No doubt you will ask how can this condition be brought about when it is contrary to the experience of other cities throughout Canada. My reply is, that it is the result of very careful financial planning by our city manager and city comptroller. The 1952 council adopted a pay-as-you-go plan and since that time we have not issued any debentures except for local improvement purposes which amount to $570,835."

"This plan has worked extremely well and has saved the citizens of Victoria many hundreds of thousands of dollars in interest payments."

TAX SALE
"We have been able to do this by the sale of the city's tax sale lands at market prices and we have used these monies for capital purposes. However, this has not been the sole source of income because we have in each year used monies received from local taxation for similar purposes."

"For example during 1957 there was included in our general tax rate provision for an expenditure for capital works amounting to $653,600. That is the equivalent of eight mills or a per capita of $12, and we believe this is good business because had we borrowed money by the issuance of debentures at an interest rate of 5 per cent."

cent per annum for 15 years, this would have cost the taxpayers an additional $300,000."

CAPITAL PROJECTS
Among the major capital projects which the city has built or is building from the sale of tax lands without increasing taxation was the health and welfare building, $82,500; Point Ellice bridge, $433,000; a firehall, $348,000; a contribution toward the Gorge Road Hospital, $150,000; purchase of property to make needed room at the city's yard, $30,000; building of the garbage wharf, $65,000; rebuilding Ross Bay seawall, $34,000.

"The development of streets and subdivisions such as the extension of Richardson, $116,000, and many other smaller projects. Altogether since 1950 we have invested $1,655,525 in capital expenditures from the sale of tax sale lands. This has been done without borrowing any money or increasing the tax rate."

ADDED ADVANTAGE
"It must also be remembered that of the $160,000 spent for subdivision and development of roads that it has had the added advantage of putting a great deal of property on the tax roll as all these properties have had houses built on them."

"The monies we have received from current taxation for capital purposes have been used for the rehabilitation of our water distribution, sewers and road systems. The city developed a long-range plan so much so that to a large degree these facilities will be kept in permanent repair; by these means we are able to keep these systems up to date, and avoid capital borrowing."

"In this respect I might point out that in our rehabilitation schemes we frequently find that the water and sewer pipes are inadequate and we increase their size which obviously means that in our rehabilitation work these changes keep our system modern and in good repair."

RESERVE ESTABLISHED
"Before leaving this question of debt I would like to point out, too, that reserve was established in 1953 which in 1958 amounts to $500,000. The collection of this reserve was made possible by the consent of the taxpayers and will be used in paying off the city's debt and the purpose of this reserve was to stabilize the debt charges for the years 1964 to 1974."

"It may be of interest also to make mention of the fact that the city is paying its debenture debt at the rate of $500,000 a year until 1975, at which time the present debt will be completely paid."

INTEREST SIMILAR
"This is important because while we are paying off the principal of $500,000 a year we are also paying a similar amount in interest, and therefore our debt charges amount to approximately $1,000,000 a year."

"Not all of this is paid by the city because a certain amount is recoverable from the school board and the Greater Victoria water district. However, the amount for which the city is directly responsible calculated on the present day taxable assessment is the equivalent of 8 mills."

"It is therefore quite evident that if the city could continue its pay-as-you-go plan when the present debt is paid off the taxpayer could anticipate an 8-mill reduction in the tax rate. In any event I think it is safe to predict that when the city's present debt is paid off any the meantime will be relatively small."

"No doubt from what I have said you would wonder what our tax collections are. My reply is, during the period under review our collection on current taxes and tax arrears has never been worse than fractionally less than 100 per cent of our current years tax levy. This is a yardstick which is used by financial institutions in which they advise that 100 per cent is proof that the current economic conditions are good and that people are prompt in paying the tax levy."

STRONG POSITION
"In concluding this review of the current financial situation of the city may I say that the city has emerged from a somewhat shaky financial condition of 10 years ago and is now in one of the strongest financial positions of any city of its size in Canada, and with good management and careful planning it can become one of the least taxed areas in Canada."

Where's Balance?
Sidney village council is looking for the rest of the $101,047 which Premier Bennett said Sidney received in provincial grants in 1958.

"We've received the down payment — now where's the rest?" village commissioner A. A. Cormack asked at a council meeting.

Council voted to ask the premier for "the balance." Council chairman Dr. C. H. Hemmings said grants to date this year total $22,576.

The $101,047 figure was given by the premier in a speech in Sidney Nov. 17.
